LPG stoves reduce burn accidents by 50 percent

Skin Bank proposal for K.R. Hospital in cold storage due to less demand

Mysuru, June 3 (RK&BCT)- There has been a significant fall in the number of burn incidents or fire accidents, thanks to the shift from kerosene stoves to modern LPG stoves. The old pump stoves and kerosene lamps (buddi deepa) are rarely used now with the proliferation of LPG and induction stoves.

According to K.R. Hospital Medical Superintendent Dr. N. Nanjundaswamy, who is also a Dermatologist, earlier many patients from Mysuru and surrounding districts used to land at the Burns Ward of the K.R. Hospital. A majority of the burns were sustained after the old kerosene stove or pump stoves exploded during use in the kitchens.

"K.R. Hospital alone used to get over 20 to 25 patients every month and most of the cases were severe as fire spreads fast after coming into contact with kerosene that is splashed over the human body after the stove blast. Over the last three years, this ratio has come down drastically and now the Hospital reports 100 to 120 cases per year, which is a 50 percent decline," he said.

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

We live our lives with the aspiration for achieving some significance and permanence: beautifying our bodies, amassing wealth and possessions, glorifying ourselves, earning name and fame and building a legacy that we hope will endure through generations. No wonder, a large majority across the globe carries a sense of entitlement that they should be admired, celebrated, and worshipped because they are special. They go to great lengths making the world believe that they are special: buying luxurious vehicles and lavish homes on mortgage, creating iconic personal brands and doing almost anything and everything that will build their presence on social media.

Despite these zealous efforts, the significance they attain is short-lived, ephemeral and shadows of insignificance always continue to haunt them. This worries them incessantly, and they exhaust their energies trying to battle oblivion. The narratives of any person, culture or nation are eventually lost to history and history itself is lost to the ticking away of time.

Although the need to feel good about oneself is universal and a healthy self-esteem is an important prerequisite for a deeper self-growth, worrying too much about our self-image can make us feel mishappen and fragile. These negative feelings instil a strong fear of rejection in our psyche, forcing us to either withdraw from the world or go to great lengths in seeking validation from it.

Let us accept wholeheartedly that we do not matter and, therefore, there is no point in building a tiny, false, and pompous self. We can simply be: be who we are, be who we want to be and be free from the pulls and pushes of social conditionings. We can be in a way that makes us happy, content, and free from regrets.

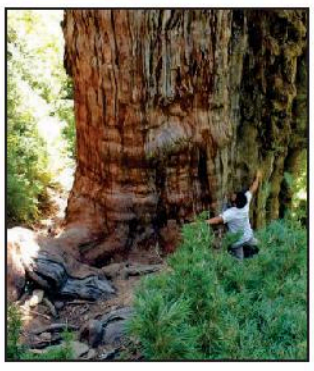
Fake COVID test centre gets 6 million dollars

Freiburg: A 17-year-old German boy was recently found guilty of creating a fake COVID screening centre and illegally pocketing 5.7 million euros (6 million dollars) in State payouts for tests that were never performed.

Germany's Kassenärtzlichen Vereinigung (KV) had trusted the information provided by a 17-year-old boy from Freiburg, who claimed to operate a COVID test centre. Between March and June of 2021, the young man, whose name has not been revealed, billed up to 5,000 tests per day, although his testing centre didn't even exist. The young man, who came up with the idea in 2020, managed to pocket a whopping 6 million dollars without actually doing any work.

5,484-year-old tree could be the world's oldest



Chile: Scientists in Chile believe that an ancient Patagonian cypress known as 'Gran Abuelo' (Great Grandfather) could be over 5,000 years old, which would make it the world's oldest living tree.

The Patagonian cypress (Fitzroya cupressoides), known in South America as 'alerce', is a conifer native to Chile and Argentina. They belong to the same family as giant sequoias and redwoods, and can reach heights of up to 45 meters (150ft). They grow at a very slow rate and are known to live for hundreds, even thousands of years, but one particular specimen may be the oldest tree ever discovered.

If the findings of a Chilean team of researchers are to be believed, Great Grandfather, an ancient Patagonian cypress in the Alerce Costero national park, is 5,484-years-old, a whopping 600 years older than Methuselah, the current world's oldest tree.

REALLY...?

- Before 150 B.C: The Dead Sea Scrolls mentioned the mashing of pomegranate and figs by an ancient tribe from Israel known as the Essenes. They said that pomegranate juice gave them strength. It might be the earliest attempt, or at least the earliest record, to separate the juice from the fruit for its healing benefits.*
- 1910s: Around this time, orange juice pasteurisation started because growers in California had an overpopulation of fruit. They needed ways to store and transport the fruit and the juice because no one had refrigerators yet, so the fresh juice wouldn't last long enough. Pasteurisation kills micro-organisms that causes fruits and veggies to spoil or ferment.*

Check rampant use of mobile phone by four-wheel drivers

Sir,

In spite of having strict rules against usage of mobile phones while driving, many of the irresponsible drivers continue to use their mobile phones while driving, especially the four-wheel drivers. While on mobile phone, these drivers are unable to operate side indicators when they take a turn and also they will be driving slowly causing inconvenience to the drivers following such slow moving vehicles, resulting in traffic blocks.

The traffic cameras installed at various junctions may not be able to capture the photo or video of the drivers using their mobile phones sitting inside their four-wheelers and hence they go scot-free after violating the rules and causing nuisance.

The best solution would be to depute a mobile squad of two Police personnel each from every Police Station doing continuous rounds within their jurisdiction and capture the photos or videos of the mobile usage while driving and penalise them for the traffic rules violation.

If such a drive is conducted for a couple of weeks, I am sure that the number of mobile users while driving will drastically come down.

The rally with the theme 'Connection to Hope,' passed through Clock Tower, Gandhi Square and Sayyaji Rao Road before culminating at starting point. They carried placards with messages on mental health.

Speaking on the occasion, Judge Devaraj Bhute said that health is a state of complete harmony of the body, mind and spirit. "Mental health is affected due to lot of stress and anxiety in working sectors where people lose mental health easily," he said.

Stressing that children in the age group of 2-3 years easily operate smartphones, he said "Including me, everyone use mobile phones to search one or the other thing on the social media which is a part and parcel of life, but also an addiction."

District Health Officer (DHO) Dr. K.H. Prasad, who too spoke, said that about five percent of people in the world suffer from mental illness and commit suicide and added that 1 to 1.5 percent per 10,000 people suffer from Schizophrenia. "There are several factors affecting the mental health. People tend to keep mental sickness a secret from society due to fear. Mental issues should not be kept as a secret, but must be treated at the right time," he said.

Dr. Prasad said that people must come forward to help those with mental issues instead of turning a blind eye or neglecting them. "Proper treatment will cure them and bring them back to form. In this regard the Judiciary, Health and the Police Departments are jointly organising various programmes to create awareness," he added. A street play was also staged.

Department of Health and Family Welfare Divisional Joint Director Dr. M.R. Udaykumar, District Surgeon Dr. Rajeshwari, District TB Eradication Officer Dr. Siraj Ahmed, District Vector-Borne Diseases Control Officer Dr. S. Chidambara, District Mental Health Programme Officer Dr. M.S. Manjuprasad and others were present.

University students stage protest against fee payment order

Mysuru, June 3 (RKB&DM)- Urging the authorities to take back the circular on payment of admission and exam fees, several students of University of Mysore (UoM), under the banner of UoM Research Students Association, staged a demonstration in front of the clock tower in Manasagangothri campus here on Wednesday.

Alleging that UoM authorities all of a sudden have issued a circular on fee payment, despite the fact that there is no admission fee for SC/ST students for the past several years, they contended that the admission fee could have been deducted from the scholarship of students. But the scholarship is yet to be released and now the University has issued fee payment circular, asking the students to remit fee by May 31, they alleged and demanded that the authorities take back the circular in the interest of scores of students.

UoM Vice-Chancellor Prof. G. Hemantha Kumar, who visited the venue, received the memorandum from protesting students after which he assured that the issue will be resolved soon.

Proud moment for brave girl who fought chain-snatchers

City Top Cop sends out a message on how public can help Police in nabbing criminals

Sowmya Srikanth receiving a commendation certificate from City Police Commissioner Dr. Chandragupta today for her act of bravery.

Mysuru, June 3 (RK&BCT)- It was a proud moment for 21-year-old Sowmya Srikanth, a resident of Vidyaranyapuram, to receive a commendation certificate from City Police Commissioner Dr. Chandragupta for her act of bravery. She received the certificate today at the special briefing parade at CAR (City Armed Reserve) Grounds ahead of PM's visit to Mysuru.

On Jan. 9, 2022, Sowmya used her presence of mind and displayed bravery and not only saved her gold chain from being snatched but also hit the chain-snatchers with a stick. The criminals had come in a car. Her move helped the public corner the culprits and hand them over to the Police.

The incident took place near a hotel on JLB Road when Sowmya was walking her dog when a miscreant snatched her gold chain and jumped into the waiting car. Sowmya, without panicking, went after the chain-snatchers and hit the person who was behind the wheels of the car with the stick she was carrying. Her quick action shocked the car driver who accelerated the vehicle and hit a roadside tree and an oncoming goods vehicle. The public later caught them.

In giving her the commendation certificate, the Police Commissioner wanted to send out a message that the public has a larger role to play in nabbing criminals. "Public should be alert and they must act immediately without waiting for the Police. If chain-snatchers realise that they will be caught by the people, they will not dare enter localities," he said, commending Sowmya.

Piece of advice for cops

The Commissioner, who has been stressing public-friendly policing, today again reminded the officers and Policemen that they must behave courteously with the public. "People come to the Police Station only if they have a problem. Otherwise, they will not. If you treat them badly and if you do not act on their complaint, then their confidence is eroded," he said.

"Nowadays, the public fear to come to the Police Station, especially women and the elderly. They prefer to suffer silently instead of approaching a hostile Police Station. This is a sad development and this must change. Imagine if your family members are in trouble, do you expect a Policeman to treat them badly? The first priority is to listen to the grievance and act. Do not shift responsibilities," he said.

Even when the Policemen are not in uniform, they must be alert 24X7 and should not give jurisdictional excuses while fighting a crime, he added.

Cops on toes for PM's visit

Senior officers DCP (Law and Order) Pradeep Gunti, DCP (Crime and Traffic) M.S. Geetha Prasanna, CAR DCP Shivaraj, Mounted Police Commandant Nagaraj, Traffic ACP N.S. Gangadharaswamy, Krishnaraja ACP Poornachandra Tejaswi, Narasimharaja ACP M. Shivakumar and Devaraja ACP M.N. Shashidhar were present.

Among the key points covered by Dr. Chandragupta, the prominent were road safety, route security, security around the PM's cavalcade route, vigil on nearby areas and high-rise buildings, clearing of obstacles in coordination with Chamundeshwari Electricity Supply Corporation, Mysuru City Corporation and Mysuru Urban Development Authority, pruning of tree branches, clearing petty shops all along the PM's route and also ensure a pothole-free road.

He asked the Cops to be on high alert and identify troublesome individuals at the Police Station level. He asked them not to apply for leave on June 20 and June 21 unless it is an emergency. The senior officers were asked to prepare a plan for the routes from Hotel Radisson Blu Plaza where the PM will stay to the Mysore Palace, entry and exits and also emergency exits.

Once the senior officers submit the plan, the same will be sent to the SPG for approval. "We have to tighten the security across the city and also make traffic arrangements for their smooth passage through the city. Managing traffic will be cumbersome and traffic regulations will have to be put in place for the VVIP visit," he told the Policemen.

VHP's Srirangapatna Chalo tomorrow

Ban orders from June 3 to 5

Srirangapatna, June 3 (Vinay Karekura)- With the Mandya District Unit of Vishwa Hindu Parishat (VHP) planning to take out a 'Srirangapatna Chalo' march from Kuvempu Circle of the town to Jamia Masjid located close to Srirangapatna TMC on June 4, the Taluk Magistrate Shwetha S. As per the ban orders imposed under Section 144 of CrPC, all processions, fairs, protests, demonstrations and such other mass gatherings are totally banned in this period.

This follows the complaint with Srirangapatna Town Police by VHP on May 24, claiming that Hindu sentiments were hurt due to the existence of Jamia Masjid at the site where an Anjaneya Temple existed. VHP had also warned of taking out a Srirangapatna Chalo on June 4.

Main water supply line to city bursts open on KRS Road

Srirangapatna, June 3 (Vinay Karekura&BCT)- A drinking water pipeline burst open on KRS Road this morning and Cauvery water jumped up like a spring on the main road, drenching commuters, especially two-wheeler riders.

The incident occurred on the stretch between Pump House and Mysuru city and the leak, with great force, happened on the main water supply pipe to Mysuru. The leakage came under control after over three hours when the public called the water supply officers. Supply to the pipeline was cut off, disrupting the water supply to the city.

Buses passing on the road during peak hour traffic too were half-drenched as the water spring directly hit the top portion. Passengers who were sitting on the window seats were caught off-guard as cold water lashed at them with force.

Engineers said that the leakage could have happened at a place where concrete that was applied to the pipe gave away due to high pressure. The leak will be plugged by today evening, they said.

Ahead of PM's visit...

LPG stoves reduce burn accidents by 50 percent

Rural women folk predominantly use kerosene as their primary fuel after firewood and the biggest culprit behind accidental burn injuries is the high-pressure kerosene stove or the pump stove. Needless to mention, a vast majority of the victims were women.

"High-pressure kerosene stoves are still a very popular method of cooking among the lower socio-economic groups, the main reason being that they are more powerful than the kerosene wicker stoves. the vigour of pumping often results in a sudden burst of energy. Now, most households use LPG as their primary fuel. As such, accidents have come down," Dr. Nanjundaswamy said.

No demand for skin bank

With the burn cases reducing by 50 percent, there is less demand for the skin bank. Earlier, there was a proposal to establish a skin bank at the K.R. Hospital.

Considering the increased cases of fire accidents, the Hospital authorities had sent a proposal to the State Government to release funds for a skin bank so that it would help plastic surgeries.

"A skin bank is an expensive proposal and even its maintenance is costly. The first process is to collect skin from the donors and the skin must be grafted on plastic surgery patients within three months so that the natural skin can grow. Now since the burn cases have reduced, there is less demand for skin bank," Dr. Nanjundaswamy added.

He said that there has been no reply from the Government side and the Hospital has not pursued the matter with the Government as the burn cases have come down, so is the demand. Bengaluru's Victoria Hospital has a skin bank, he added.

Skin graft on Group Captain Varun Singh

Group Captain Varun Singh, who was critically injured in a helicopter crash that killed Chief of Defence Staff (CDS) General Bipin Rawat, his wife Madhulika and 12 Armed Forces personnel in Tamil Nadu's Coonoor on Dec.8, 2021, was given a skin graft treatment in an attempt to treat him for burn injuries.

Varun Singh was treated at the Command Hospital in Bengaluru and the skin bank of Bangalore Medical College and Research Institute (BMCRI), located in the Victoria Hospital complex, sent skin grafts. Varun Singh suffered 80 percent burns in the accident. The BMCRI had sent 1,000 square centimetres of cadaver to the Command Hospital.

At the skin bank, the doctors were grappling with skin shortage. It had limited availability of fully processed skin for use on burn patients. The doctors were contemplating to fetch the skin from skin banks in Mumbai or Chennai. There was a decline in skin donations after the COVID-19 pandemic.

Despite the best efforts of the doctors, Shaurya Chakra awardee Group Captain Varun Singh passed away on Dec. 15.

18-year-old Gauff enters into her first Grand Slam final

Paris, June 3- With a smile beamed up to the heavens, Coco Gauff raised both of her arms in celebration as she sealed a 6-3, 6-1 victory over Martina Trevisan on Thursday — one that sent her into her first Grand Slam singles final at Roland-Garros.

At 18 years old, Gauff became the youngest finalist at Roland-Garros since Kim Clijsters in 2001, fulfilling the promise that had many tipping her as a prodigy since her days as a junior.

World No.1 Iga Swiatek — and her 34-match winning streak — will be waiting for her in the final. But the American had a different topic on her mind after the match.

When prompted to sign the camera lens after her win, she used the opportunity to send a powerful message instead: "Peace" and "End Gun Violence" — a reference to the recent wave of mass shootings that has hit her home country.

While she's been competing on the sport's biggest stages, Gauff has certainly not been unmoved.

"Since I was younger… my dad told me I could change the world with my racquet. He didn't mean that by just playing tennis. He meant speaking out on issues like this," Gauff said during her post-match press conference.

Paris, June 3- World No.1 Iga Swiatek reached the Roland-Garros final for the second time in three years with a dominant 6-2, 6-1 win over 20th seed Daria Kasatkina on Thursday.

In warm sunshine, the 2020 champion was tested early on but pulled away from the middle of the first set and clinched a convincing victory after 64 minutes.

It was her 34th straight victory, the joint-second longest streak on the WTA tour since 2000, one behind Venus Williams. The Pole, who is now 20-2 at Roland-Garros, will play the winner of the second semi-final, American Coco Gauff.

Pointing out that it is a matter of pride that such a premier Institute like AIISH is located in Mysuru, Cariappa said it is laudable that the faculty and staff are working in tandem to take the Institute to much greater heights.

Noting that Rangayana too has been organising summer camps for children every year at its premises, Cariappa said that, however, this summer camp of the AIISH is different as it aims to bring specially-abled children to the mainstream of society. On their part, the children too should make best use of this camp by adding something to their knowledge, he added.

Department of Youth Empowerment and Sports Assistant Director K. Suresh, in his address, said that it is important to bring specially-abled children to mainstream society.

Stressing on the need for making children get more involved in sporting activities, he said the Department will consider if a demand is made for more sports facilities for special children.

The summer camp, in which 77 specially-abled children participated, featured a variety of activities such as Yoga, Handicrafts making, Wu-shu, Dance and other entertainment and recreational activities. AIISH Faculty members Prof.Sundarraj, Dr.Preeti Venkatesh, Kumuda Prakash and others were present.

WORD OF THE DAY

Commemorate

Pronunciation: kuh-MEM-uh-rayt.
Meaning: To commemorate something is to call it to remembrance or mark it by some ceremony or observation. Plaques and monuments can commemorate a person or event by serving as memorials.
Origin: When you remember something, you are mindful of it. It's appropriate, therefore, that commemorate and other related memory-associated words (including memorable, memorial, remember, and memory itself) come from the Latin root memor, meaning "mindful." English speakers have been marking the memory of important events with commemorate since the late 16th century.
Example: "Set to be unveiled this fall in the West End's Laurel Park, the bronze statue and plaza will commemorate the life and legacy of Cincinnati's world heavyweight boxing champion, Ezzard Charles." — Sharon Coolidge, The Cincinnati Enquirer, 20 Apr. 2022.

PHRASE OF THE DAY

Crack someone up

Meaning: When you say you 'Crack someone up', you mean that you are making them laugh.
Origin: The expression 'crack someone up' comes from Gaelic, in which the word craic, pronounced crack, refers to fun. The phrasal verb crack up or the phrase burst out laughing can be used when someone suddenly starts laughing. Crack up is an informal verb.
Example: "I really cracked him up with that joke about the sailors."
